ADAMUS OFF-SCRIPT

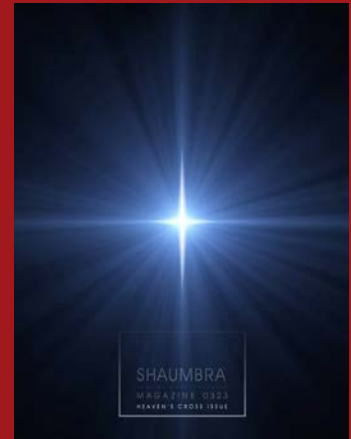

By Geoffrey Hoppe

We were deep into the Time Traveling with Adamus workshop in Kona, Hawaii a few weeks ago. In the first few days Adamus explained the fundamentals of time traveling to the attendees and now we were into actual experiences of going into the past and future. Everyone (including me) was a bit spacey from the experiences of traveling across time for the last 1½ days. In the second session of the third day, Adamus took questions from the attendees for the sake of clarifying what they were experiencing during their travels. One question led to another, and before long Adamus went “off-script” with an open discussion about the upcoming Heaven’s Cross event on March 22. I felt this information was worthy of my article this month because it adds new insights not previously discussed in any of the Heaven’s Cross materials. I edited some of the text for easier reading.

ADAMUS OFF-SCRIPT, FEBRUARY 22, 2023 – EXCERPTS

A month from today is Heaven’s Cross. It’s the reason why I gave Cauldre a heads-up over three years ago and said, ‘Get everything ready.’ At the time I didn’t know the exact date, but I knew it would be in about three to five years. As it turns out, it was just slightly over three. This opening of Heaven’s Cross is finally the crack in the veil, the veil that’s existed on Earth almost as long as the planet has been here. It has shut off a lot of communication and connection with the soul, with the I Am.

It wasn’t a mistake. It wasn’t a bad thing. It just allowed you to be here in the quest to understand “Who am I?” It was actually an incredible undertaking – the design of this planet, of biology, and of the veil – an incredible construct that created the illusion of separation for so very, very long.

CRIMSON CIRCLE

HAVE TO WORK AT IT.

So here you are now. I get a little bit sentimental, because it's the culmination of eons of time, work and experience, a thousand or more lifetimes on the planet, and now you're here at the Apocalypse, the unveiling. You don't have to work at it. It's all about just being aware of what's happening, and suddenly realizing there's so much more ease in connecting with your Self.

On March 22, 2023 the Crimson Council will close up shop on planet Earth, meaning that their work is done. All the work that's been going on for a long, long time, has come to this point of the opening the veil, of the Apocalypse. The Crimson Council will still exist in the other realms and will still go around to all parts of creation, teaching wisdom, teaching the evolution of the soul, teaching the "I Am, I Exist." They'll continue teaching in the other realms about sovereignty and about energy, but basically their work here on Earth is done. They've been here to work with you. They have been your counterparts, and now it's up to you to carry the torch and to do the work.

When they leave, they'll literally exit through Heaven's Cross, this opening in the veil. They're going to use that as their final doorway. Right now, they're just finishing up business on the planet.

There's a tremendous amount of gratitude by the Crimson Council for what a very small group of humans has been doing. It's the Crimson Circle, Shaumbra. There are others as well, but the Crimson Circle is the most cohesive of all the groups that are working on this, the tightest of all the groups making the biggest impact. There is a tremendous amount of gratitude, and it brings up feelings, because you're grateful to them too. You needed the Crimson Council and the Crimson Circle to balance, and they've been working hand in hand with you for a long time.

When the Crimson Council leaves, they will exit through Heaven's Cross out of choice, out of honor, and it will also help with the opening on that day. It will help to balance it and open it even more. So, it's very chosen. They'll have an incredible procession, single file, and you will be able to feel them moving from Earth all the way up through Heaven's Cross in a very solemn, beautiful walk.

THERE'S A TREMENDOUS AMOUNT OF GRATITUDE BY THE CRIMSON COUNCIL
FOR WHAT A VERY SMALL GROUP OF HUMANS HAS

Oh, you'll still have plenty to do on the planet. You've been on the journey for a long time, going toward the destination. You've finally arrived and now the real work starts – being Masters on the planet. You no longer have to try to get there, try to have your Realization. Now you're there, and I'm going to work very closely with Shaumbra in the times right after Heaven's Cross. No more trying to take that journey or find yourself. You are here and now the real work begins in terms of really shining your light for the planet.

It is the Apocalypse, the opening. As you came closer to the date, as more consciousness came to Earth, there were forces – human and nonhuman forces – that didn't want it to happen. I'm not going to call them dark forces; they're just unconscious or low consciousness forces that didn't want it to happen. Some were religious orders, many of them semi-secret, that have been holding energy for the planet for a long time and don't want to see this. Others are nonhuman power groups that work through humans. I won't even call them angelic, they're nonhuman beings that manipulate humans. Sometimes the humans are conscious of them, but many times not. They don't want to see this either. There are humans that are very linked into, invested into power, and they know that's coming to an end.

Some of these groups think this is the devil's work, because it's not Jesus. It is Jesus, but it's not their Jesus. They think that there's something evil about it. They're praying and praying right now, not wanting it to happen. They don't understand what's really happening, but they know something's about to pop open, and they're frightened. They've been carrying some of the old energies on Earth for a long, long time, that of an angry God, that of sinners, that of waiting for Jesus to show up. And it is Jesus showing up, but as the Christos energy, not as the Jesus they've created.

They think it's some sort of deception, because they're expecting the long-haired, nice looking Jewish guy to show up and walk through Jerusalem, literally. For centuries, some of these groups have been storing goods, food, furniture, gold, arms, a lot of weapons in warehouses, particularly in and around Israel, waiting for the Second Coming. They've stockpiled

Kryon: "144,000 were called upon to do the job. That is the mathematical equation for what it would take to begin the process of the apocalypse... the lifting of the veil... changing what was... removing the illusion. 144,000 humans across this planet Earth responded, some consciously, some at the inner levels."

"And, then the process began, and what amazed all of us on this side... oh, it was not limited to 144,000. The lines were deep, people waiting, humans waiting, wanting to also be part of the process. And, so the 144,000 expanded, and there were more and more. And, there are more coming in every day."

millions of their holy books to hand out to the survivors that live through this. It's a very old energy. They've been at work doing this for almost 2,000 years. They have huge warehouses filled with goods for the Second Coming, and a lot of really nice clothes for Jesus. I'm serious.

It's the core reason behind the war with Russia. I'm not even going to say it's a war with Ukraine because Ukraine didn't start it, but this powerplay was intended to throw the world off balance, starting a year ago; hopefully off balance enough so this whole event wouldn't come about. Can you imagine the implications now with Heaven's Cross happening, with this group that manipulates humans, that are trying to prevent Heaven's Cross because this group believes that humans are sinners and should suffer more?

The war was a distraction, a diversion, hoping to throw things out of balance enough that Heaven's Cross wouldn't happen. But something funny happened. Instead of being able to roll into Kyiv and take over in what they anticipated would be about a week, it didn't happen. I'm not talking bad about Russians. There's only a small number of Russian leaders that are involved in this. I love Russia. I went there quite often in my last lifetime. Catherine the Great was truly great. A little weird in some ways. She was incredibly intelligent, almost too intelligent, and that sometimes it worked against her. I love the Russian people and land, but what's happening now was meant to keep Heaven's Cross from opening. But it didn't happen. Look at the result of what's going on there. Now when Heaven's Cross opens, how is that going to backlash on those power groups?

They've been predicting the coming of Jesus for eons of time. There have been dates that have been prophesized and missed because they weren't basing it on consciousness. They were basing it on the wrath of Jesus. In other words, "Jesus gets so pissed off that he's going to come back in anger." They didn't bother to look that it's all based on consciousness and energy. When they prophesied, they kept hitting the dates wrong and Jesus never showed up. Many of them got very embarrassed, and when they got embarrassed, they got even more angry. The current President of Russia was a religious leader in a past life and had also predicted certain dates. It never happened – he died, of course, and then came back – and now he's angry, because it didn't work out for him. Now he wants it all on his terms; it has

A PERSONAL BUMP-AND-FILL

to be his Jesus, and it's going to be his Jesus that destroys those that are not righteous.

There's going to be issues with technology. How far does it go? How much consciousness is in the artificial intelligence? Will humans just become lazy? Will they not think? Or will they use it for the good? Will they use it to help bring about the new species of humans? Will they use it to feed the population? There's plenty of food on this planet. Plenty. It's just not made available to those who really need it. There's plenty of fresh water. There's plenty of plenty on this planet, and it's only because of greed, power, and energy feeding that it's not equitable for all.

One more thing. Cauldre doesn't want me to say this, but you might have a personal bump-and-fill right around the time of Heaven's Cross. Don't worry about it. It's not going to kill you. It'll just shock you. A minor accident, bumping into a wall, falling down some steps or something like that. Oftentimes humans use that as a way to have a very fast infusion of divine energies. You all did it when you were kids, like falling out of the tree. Don't worry about it. You're not doing anything wrong. You're just getting a fill-up.

ADDED BY ADAMUS AFTER THE WORKSHOP:

Between now and March 22, I call on Shaumbra around the world to continue benching and radiating your light each and every day. It is the single most important thing you can do for yourself and humanity as we come to the Apocalypse.

"Behold the Song of Your Soul" Channeled by Geoffrey Hoppe July, 2002

Tobias: "Did you know that the apocalypse is happening now... the apocalypse of your soul is happening at this moment? Apocalypse, defined by your own human dictionary... APOCALYPSE MEANS LIFTING OF THE VEIL! This is the original Greek definition. Apocalypse means lifting of the veil.

"You are living in the days of apocalypse right now. The veil is lifting all around you. It is the apocalypse of the soul. And, as you lift this veil, as you come to new understandings and insights, you also help change the consciousness of everything around you.

"That is why we honor you so much for the work that you do. What you precipitate, what you start, sets up a pattern that enables others to then use those tools and those energies for transformation in their own life. You are the teachers. Apocalypse - lifting of the veil. The very work of the Kryon changed the grids in response to your changing consciousness. As the grids are adjusted and changed, this lifts the veil."

Part 3: Questions & Answers

RECONNECTING WITH SELF

This “apocalyptic” event is like nothing humanity has ever previously encountered. As the veil between Earth and the realms beyond begins opening, the implications are profound. While the reduction in emotional, mental, and physical gravity will eventually affect every part of human life, the most meaningful outcome is the divine access that humans have yearned for since the beginning of time. For those who allow their energy to serve without limits, the result of this magnificent time will be a life of joy, happiness, abundance, ease, and grace. Indeed, those who hold on to power will find themselves going crazy and eventually leaving the planet, because human consciousness will simply no longer support their games.

Adamus begins this important session by stating “We don’t have all the answers. This has never been done. It’s for you to discover and experience.” But, as always, he is happy to share his expanded perspective from across the rapidly thinning veil. Answering questions from Shaumbra around the world, Adamus speaks of potentially miraculous changes in health, a lightening of the physical density, the impact on our human lives and relationships, and much more. It is with great joy that he declares, “With the opening of Heaven’s Cross, I can proudly announce that technology will never be something that destroys the human race.”

By answering more than fifteen questions, Adamus paints an inspiring picture of this profound change that is unfolding on planet Earth. It is an incredible time to let a whole new level of clear and pure energy serve you without limit.

I WAS SHOCKED
SAID:

RUDE AWAKENING — FREE TO THE WORLD

BASED ON A TRUE STORY

I don't recall what I was doing at the moment Adamus popped in to say, "The Rude Awakening movie should be given to the world for free." But I was shocked.

What?? Did I hear him correctly? Did he just say to give away the Rude Awakening film to the world at no cost? I stopped whatever trivial thing I was doing and sat down.

"Yes," replied Adamus in his commanding voice. "You heard me right. Was I not clear enough? How about this: 'GIVE THE WORLD RUDE AWAKENING FOR FREE.'" Geez, I really hate it when those guys yell. I stumbled for words amidst the dozens of questions that were coming to my mind.

"It's simple," Adamus explained in a more civilized tone. "Talk to Jonathan and Sandra (the film's creators and producers). Tell them I sent you."

By Geoffrey Hoppe

"Yah right," I thought to myself. They've invested 7 years of their lives into making the film. They're getting ready to take Rude Awakening to film festivals and distributors like Netflix, Amazon Prime and Apple TV. And the film cost mega-bucks to produce. So now they're just going to say, "Hey world, who'd like a movie about spiritual awakening? For free. Absolutely no strings attached. Y'all have a good awakening now, ya hear!"

I covered my face in my hands so Adamus couldn't see me rolling my eyeballs. "I saw that," noted the Professor. I quickly dropped my hands but kept my eyes closed.

"The film should be released to humanity on March 22, 2023. In case you forgot, this is the beginning of the Apocalypse." How could I forget. It's all I've heard about since the Dream of the Merlin event in September '22 – "Apocalypse, Apocalypse, Apocalypse." You'd think there were other things to talk about, like earthquakes, global climate change or robots taking over the world.

I felt Adamus float away, and then I felt a pit in my stomach. How was I going to explain this to the Rude team? To the Crimson Circle staff? And to the film's investors? I'm not a business genius but it seems it's hard to get a return on investment if you give away your product for free. Where's the energy exchange if it's free? Adamus must have heard my thoughts from the Ascended Masters Club. "This time, the energy exchange comes after the fact. They give it away, and a huge energy exchange comes back for everyone involved in making the movie, as well as Shaumbra in general." What an eavesdropper!

With great reluctance and Adamus to blame, I arranged a Zoom call with Jonathan and Sandra. We connected online, which was good because they couldn't see me sweating. We exchanged some pleasantries and then I broke the news. "It's his fault. Adamus wants you to offer the film to the planet on March 22 ... for frgebezkt." I couldn't even get out the word "free." "You're breaking up Geoff," Sandra said so sweetly. Yes, I was breaking up but this time it wasn't my Internet. I took a deep breath and blurted it out: "Adamus wants you to drop the film on the world for, for.... FREE.... on March 22. It's the beginning of the Apocalypse, you know." "Yes, we know," replied Jonathan. "That's all we've heard about for months now."

There was a long pause. I really hate long pauses. I want to fill in the empty space with anything, because a long pause empty probably means some shit is about to happen.

Jonathan broke the silence. "We've actually been talking about the same thing, but we thought it might sound crazy. Why not just gift it to the world? That would make us happier than any Hollywood contract. Who knows how many people it could help, and what it could lead to." On the Zoom screen I saw them visibly relax, like a huge burden was lifted off their shoulders, and my perspiration level went back to normal. We agreed to the date, talked about the logistics, and then reminisced about the film's journey that started many years ago at a quaint restaurant in Kona, just a few miles down the road from Villa Ahmyo. A week later, we had a magical call with the film's investors. Every one of them loved the idea, and never asked about their return on investment. They all agreed this would be a great gift to awakening humans. I talked to the Crimson Circle staff and every one of them applauded the idea, and started talking about the logistics.

What I witnessed during this experience was the true goodness of humans. Any one of the film's creators, or the investors, or the CC staff could have balked or complained. Someone could have come up with a "bait-and-switch" scheme to offer the film for free and then pressure people into upgrading to an expensive paid version. In my opinion, the pure energies of the RA team and Shaumbra made the process as graceful as it gets. There was no greed, no egos, no watered-down compromises, and no expectations of glory.

The Rude Awakening film will be released to the world on March 22, 2023 to coincide with the beginning of the Apocalypse. People can access it free of charge on YouTube. It will also be available on Vimeo, an ad-free video platform, for a nominal fee of €4.44. Vimeo requires a fee because of the ad-free environment and better technical features. The €4.44 video package includes 15 hours of bonus materials plus the upcoming "update interviews" with the six Masters featured in the film.

What can you do to support the global release of the film that depicts Shaumbra's story? No, this isn't the part where we ask for a donation. Just share our journey and the message of Rude Awakening with the world. Share it on your social media pages. Send it to someone you know that could use the film to feel a little less crazy and a bit less alone. Then sit on your park bench and radiate your light to All of Creation. As you might have heard, we're entering into the Apocalypse.

HEAVEN'S CROSS – PART 2: THE APOCALYPSE THE HEAVEN'S REVEALED

Humanity has always dreamed of access to the divine, of seeing beyond, of mysteries revealed and a lifetime of grace. But the physics of this planet blinded the senses to our true state of being. Now, because of humanity's strong desire for change and your radiant light, an unprecedented level of consciousness allows the clouds to begin lifting and the veil to begin dissolving. Although the implications go far beyond this planet and physical creation, for humanity it means a quantum change that will evolve into every part of life.

Adamus talks about the physics of creation, and how the atomic structures on Earth will be affected by changes in time, space, gravity, and electromagnetics. This apocalypse or opening of the realms is the core reason for why you're here. It is the time of harvest, when the Christ seed planted so long ago finally bears fruit. This is what you came for.

PROGNOST 2023 THE GLUE OF REALITY IS DISSOLVING

Adamus states that gravity, the glue holding this reality together, is now lessening due to rising consciousness on the planet. This causes things to get weird – quantum weird. The good news is that your divinity, soul, and dreams become far more accessible, and releasing stuck energy from your body, mind and emotions gets much easier. "Moonshots" become feasible, technology speeds up even more, and quantum mechanics demonstrate the act of consciousness that literally creates reality. While life feels in the "crazy zone" for a while, the lessening of gravity also brings freedom, easy manifesting, and a synchronistic life.

ProGnost 2023 is closely connected with Heaven's Cross, and Adamus talks about the physics and metaphysics of these unprecedented changes, and their effects on every part of life on Earth and beyond.

But even in Realization there are new things to learn, choose, sense and experience in the unlimited energy of the soul. In this beautiful “walking story,” Kuthumi describes a Secret Garden in which every potential exists and explains the human sense that can help you find the ones you want.

PERSONA THROUGH LANGUAGE

I was born in Holland and immigrated to New Zealand with my parents when I was ten. There, I grew up speaking a mix of English and Dutch at home. Over the years, I have made frequent trips back to Holland to visit family, including a few months of living and working there in my early twenties. As a result, I would say I have a pretty good grasp of the Dutch language and culture, and it's still very much a part of who I am.

I recently spoke with a friend who had spent several years in Japan. She is married to a Japanese man and, similarly, has an excellent grasp of the Japanese language and culture. We both noted that when you spend some time immersed in the language and culture of another country, after a time, your mind switches and starts to think in the other language. We also noticed that a change of behavior tends to accompany this switching of the dominant language in the mind.

Nuances in each language and different word choices allow you to express yourself differently. Combine this with the culture and mass consciousness of the country, and one can see how you might adopt a different personality when fully immersed in another country's language and culture. Most countries and cultures have quite distinctive personality traits, which are expressed primarily through speech and body language. For example, think of the stereotypes that have come to be associated with different cultures, like Italians, Germans, Indians, Chinese, French, Australians, etc. As humans, we express a distinct personality – or 'act' – through language and communication.

The funny thing is that now when I go back to Holland and speak Dutch to people that don't know me, they pick up my New Zealand accent and think I'm foreign, but they can also tell that I speak and act like a local, and this often leaves them quite confused!

ACT OF CONSCIOUSNESS

In the book Act of Consciousness, Adamus Saint-Germain explains that what you perceive to be your identity is really just an act. It's not really who you are, and by changing how you act you can change your life. He states, "Energy responds to the act of consciousness. This means that energy literally aligns itself to your consciousness. If you act like a limited human, your energy will respond in kind."

That's all very well, I thought, but I can't act if my life depended on it! My acting experience in this lifetime was limited to a couple of minor roles in school plays. I really didn't know how to go about changing my 'act,' and so, I shelved this concept in the 'too hard' basket because I had no idea where to start, and it just felt weird to try and act differently.

THE ROLES WE PLAY

However, after the conversation with my friend about languages and personality, I suddenly realized that I'd already been acting my entire life! And it wasn't just one character or act, there were so many different roles! The different persona brought forward through speaking a foreign language was just one of many. When I'm at work, I dress more formally, speak more formally and act professionally; and I take on a more nurturing and caring parent role at home with my children. When I go to the gym, I'm focused and energetic with an outfit to match; and when I'm out with my friends, I'm more outgoing, gregarious, and dressed to impress! Every time I'm in a different situation and interacting with different people, I take on a new role, and each one has a different persona, costume, dialogue, and behavior. The origin of the word 'person' comes from the Latin word 'persona', which literally means mask or character played by an actor. How many of your roles do you recognize?

Life is like a play where we are the scriptwriter, director, costume designer and actor portraying many different roles. We employ the people we interact with in our play to act out other parts as needed, but it's all still our own play and script. Of course, we usually see ourselves playing the hero – the loving parent, the knowledgeable expert, the fun friend, the sporting champion, the helpful family member, the virtuous volunteer, the creative artist, the talented chef, or the boy racer (you know who you are). Each role is an act, an aspect of who we are.

However, sometimes, we play the part of the villain. This may include the angry parent, the jealous partner, the lazy worker, the gossiping friend, the selfish sibling, or the controlling boss, and I'm sure you can think of many more. These are the darker aspects of ourselves, the ones we usually choose not to acknowledge in the credits!

THE ACT OF THE MASTER

Most people experience a time in life when they start to question the roles they have been playing because they now limit their expression in some way. These watershed moments are often labelled as a midlife crisis or a spiritual awakening, but they can happen at any time. Similarly, for me, the more I stepped into my role as a Master, the more I recognized the roles that just didn't suit me anymore, such as the ones that made me feel small and inadequate, or drained my energy. Over the years, depression and a heaviness in my heart have been indicators that certain roles needed to be released because they limited the expansion of my consciousness. This included an unsatisfying career as a Civil Engineer, two long-term relationships, my roles as a self-sacrificing mother and partner, and that of the poverty-stricken solo Mum, amongst others. I'm not saying these changes were easy, but they have all been 'acts' that I have released or changed over the years.

Most of my roles are now well-practiced and comfortable. However, at various times in my life, I've taken on new roles where I had no idea what I was doing and felt like I was just ad-libbing. Becoming a parent for the first time was definitely one such moment; starting a new job or relationship is another. Taking on a new role can be scary and uncomfortable, and stepping into the role of a Master is no different. There will be nerves and stage fright, but if you own the role like you have no other option (like becoming a new parent), it soon becomes a natural part of who you are.

Given that my energy responds and aligns itself with the role or 'act of consciousness' I'm playing in each moment, I only need to adjust the roles I'm already playing to become what I want them to look like. For example, by acting more joyful and more abundant, I'll bring more of these into my life. I just need to tweak the persona, dialogue, and costumes a bit for the roles that I'm already playing.

It's helped me to realize that I'm not just playing one big role in this life, but many different ones and usually more than one at a time. By recognizing my various roles, I'm bringing consciousness, or awareness, to them, which allows me to change the behavior, thoughts, and language associated with each part. When I break it down like this, changing my act of consciousness doesn't seem so daunting, because I know I've already been doing it all my life. It's nothing new.

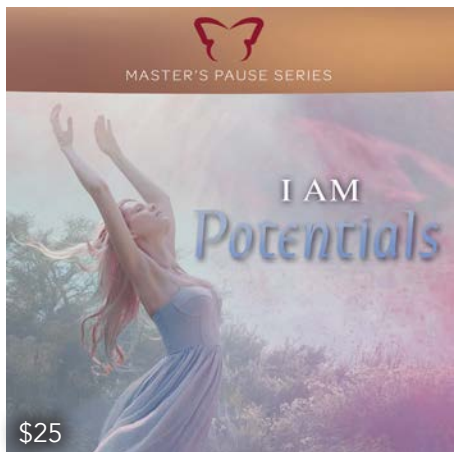

So, as the sole director of this play that is your life, how could you adjust your roles to reflect better the life you want? Which roles would you rather let go of, which ones would you like to rewrite, and what are some new ones you might like to add to your repertoire?

Don't think you can't act because in truth you're always acting. You are simply being invited to add awareness to each of the roles you're already playing and to make it a conscious Act of Consciousness.

IT'S IN THE AIR!

I always resonated with the idea of potentials... I loved the idea of these "bubbles" as Adamus once said floating around us waiting to be chosen! No right or wrong, just make a choice to bring it into our reality. So, what a grand way to start this New Year with the release of I Am Potentials, delivered to us by the Grand Master of Lightness himself Kuthumi Lal Singh. It's short, sweet, sassy, and as usual he tells a wonderful story of his journey.

As Shaumbra Masters, I can tell we've come a long way over twenty plus years and taken the training wheels off from the early days of teaching us about potentials and making choices. As Kuthumi says "It's the smell of completion of Who I Am." No more searching.

TOOK ME BY SURPRISE

Kuthumi started with his usual story about his background, which I have heard 100 times before... (I thought) This is going to be boring. Kuthumi cast a spell on me, and I Am engaged. I do not know how he does it, but suddenly I am all ears... it is not boring at all. I laugh and enjoy myself with him as I always do. And suddenly, I am inside his story.

Kind of a crazy experience. It was his story, but it became mine too. It was impossible to say if it was his story, mine, or both. Dear Kuthumi, you are making Magic. Or is it I who makes the Magic? That is still to be decided.

so BIG! In a way it is difficult to take in, and at the same time, I feel like a little child that can hardly wait until her birthday the following day.

The 6th and the 7th Heaven fill me with joy. The Elysian Field – just the name is like the longing in my dreams. It is Self-realization. Access to higher consciousness, living in joy. Some days it feels like that, and with the coming of Heaven's Cross... Wow! The 7th Heaven is the Apocalypse – everything revealed!

FINAL COUNTDOWN IT IS

Heaven's Cross is NOT just Sedona airy-fairy stuff. Adamus takes us through the steps of creation. Though I've heard this many times before, this time it is so touching and deep. It's like Journey of the Angels, the Adamus way. Especially his sharing about time, space, gravity, and the influence from the electro-magnetic fields on the atomic structure is so exiting.

What to do before Heaven's Cross? Be the observer! Get rid of junk around you and within, physically and emotionally! Be in the Now! Be real! Enjoy life! Be a Master! Be here and open! Allow and let it come to you!

To experience and understand the Apocalypse, don't look around — look inside. There are two main elements to consider: 1) what is going to be changing in the beingness and the experience of the soul self in the physical realm and 2) how it is going to be happening on the physical level.

Adamus gives the most beautiful and succinct description of how material reality is created. When consciousness limits its light coming into this reality, that light creates waveforms, or potentials, that become a reflection of the beliefs of the observer.

CLARIFYING IN THESE WEIRD TIMES

ProGnost 2023 is informative to overwhelm lol and I didn't expect anything else. This IS happening... for REAL... right now... TODAY! Though parts of me find it a bit unsettling, I also know that it is more important than ever to know what is going on – so bring it on! I'll breathe it to the ease and grace, wisdom and freedom that is my true nature. That is what I Am Here to radiate now, as a potential for All.

It is mind-blowing – quite literally. Everything shared through CC these days is inspiring me to not freak out or go bonkers LOL but instead simply relax and observe, allow and receive what has always been mine beyond the veil.

DESERT REALIZATIONS

— HEAVEN'S CROSS & THE HOLY LAND

By Gerhard Fankhauser

During the last few years, I've spent a lot of time in the desert, finding refuge and inspiration in the silent breath of this land of rocks, sand, simplicity, and mystery. Somehow my sensitivity to the buzz of modern, urban life has really increased and I've found it more and more difficult to tolerate noise and distractions. So, Einat and I recently moved into our new home in a small desert village in the South of Israel, where we had already spent much time in the previous years.

As the grand opening of Heaven's Cross approaches, I find myself living in this sacred land that still breathes the ancient spirit and memory of many generations of travelers and nomads, seekers and saints. Mt. Sinai is about two hours south from here and the Dead Sea and Jerusalem two hours north. We live at a slightly higher elevation overlooking the Aravah desert to the east. This desert is part of a tectonic rift extending from the Jordan River and the Sea of Galilee in the north to the Dead Sea, the lowest point of Earth, and on to the Red Sea in the south of Israel. According to some mystical sources, there is a very thin magnetic field all along that rift along with very powerful spiritual energies.

Of course, this place was also home to Jesus from Nazareth, who was supposedly the first human being to fully embody Christ Consciousness. Recognizing himself as the Son of God, Jesus claimed his divine inheritance and sparked the birth of Christianity, with Jerusalem becoming the spiritual capital for all Christians.

Jerusalem is also the holy city for Muslims and Jews, or better said, for Jews and Muslims, because the Jews had been here first. They built their sacred temple in Jerusalem, then it was destroyed, then rebuilt, and again destroyed. Now the holiest place of the Muslims, the Dome of the Rock, is sitting right there where Abraham nearly sacrificed his son, just next to where Jesus got crucified... it's complicated! One God but a lot of troubles and conflicts, and a fight for every square meter of holy ground.

I grew up with a Christian background, but when I came the first time to Israel, all my romantic pictures and concepts about the Holy Land got smashed very fast and I faced a big disillusioning. I arrived first in Bethlehem for Christmas and encountered a town closed down by a curfew, with only military vehicles and soldiers in the streets. I finally got to a heavily secured and guarded main square, where Christian choirs were passionately singing Christmas songs and Arab vendors were selling their souvenirs, all surrounded by a very tense vibe. In that moment, I realized that it was all false, nothing more than a big religious lie and fantasy.

The Holy Land is a place with particularly strong access to the higher realms, which is why it is the birthplace for so many religions. However, I believe that one of the key reasons for all the religious conflicts is the huge attachment humans have to their spiritual experience, to their form of heaven, and to their specific religious language and symbolism. Many times, it's not even about their own experience but rather attachment to someone else's story, to the experience of some prophet, to a mythology, and to the scriptures and descriptions of other realms written by someone else. Religion in general does not have much to do with Christ Consciousness. It was usually established after someone had accessed the higher realms, then gave a description of the experience and a formula or method for others to follow. These formulas and methods were then declared holy and have been argued and fought about ever since.

Of course, the different religions and their holy realms are bound to conflict with each other, not because they are wrong or better, but because they are misunderstood. They are portrayals of an individual's heaven that became confused with beliefs that it was the one true heaven. It will be very interesting to see how the opening of Heaven's Cross will affect all the many different heavens of religion.

The one region of the Holy Land that has never failed to inspire and uplift me has always been the desert. The energies of this ancient land are stronger than the transient human concerns, and in the desert is an emptiness and timelessness that helps me be in the present moment and open to the higher realms. Whenever I walk out into the desert, I can sense that timelessness and how very little has changed in the last few thousand years. I might be looking at the same valley Moses and his tribe gazed upon on their way out of Egypt. I may be sitting on the exact same rock that Jesus sat on during his travels. The whole land is filled with a vibrant memory of its rich spiritual history.

Parallel with all this, I can sense very clear potentials for the future. I can see and envision myself in the future, receiving inspiration and traveling with my consciousness. Here in the desert, I can feel a dissolving of energetic boundaries and, perhaps, a small taste of what Heaven's Cross might feel like.

Over the years I have spent quite some time in the Sinai desert and even climbed Mt. Sinai itself a few times. For me this place is a portal, a gateway into the other realms. Every time I was up on the mountain, something magical happened. Once there was an earthquake right at the top of the mountain, and I could hear its massive sound rolling through the surrounding desert and feel the whole mountain shaking. It was a powerful experience. I was with a small group of friends, but we all fell silent, and no one spoke for a while.

Another time I arrived alone at the top of Mt. Sinai and prepared for my overnight stay. It was winter and cold, so I found a protected spot and prepared the wood for my campfire. Very soon I realized that I had no lighter with me, only a box of matches with three sticks left in it. It was very windy on the top of the mountain, and I only knew that I must somehow light the fire to not freeze during the night. So, I prepared everything very well, created some wind protection and lit the first match. It was immediately blown out by the wind. I improved the fire setup and wind protection and tried again; in one second it too was blown out. There I was on Mt. Sinai, all alone on a cold winter night, with one single match left to light my fire. I paused for a moment, reflected on my situation and, even though prayer was not so much my thing, I prayed for support. "Dear God, Grandfather, Master, I came to the mountain for an encounter with you, for a talk. I ask you to simply stop the wind for a moment, so I can light the fire and have a comfortable night up here. That's all I ask for."

I waited and listened until the wind was quiet, and then lit the last match and with it the fire.

I never thought I would come to live in this area, but here I am, and it happened just in time for the opening of Heaven's Cross. I feel an open channel of inspiration in this land and already my most recent creations, the Desert Shaman EP and the Tuning into Harmony online class have been infused with the spirit and energy of this sacred desert. When Einat and I started creating the online class, there was no mention yet about Heaven's Cross, but I feel that the timing is no coincidence. I also feel that this class will be a support for many people during this time; a support for accessing the higher realms, bringing calm and comfort, and fully integrating divinity.

My vision for this upcoming period is to be in service to all that is happening in these truly special times and to manifest my 'desert realization studio,' where I'll be creating and producing inspiring content, and sharing my consciousness and light with the world. May we all become the Masters that we are and embody our divinity, unlimited and free.

Once in the Quiet Room, you can select your favorite image and music track to enjoy while you read the short message from Adamus, breathe, and come back to your center.

Take a deep breath. Relax. Feel.
I Exist. It is the realization of mastery.
I Am that I Am. Everything I have ever done or will ever do, all things experienced and not experienced, realized and unrealized; I Am that I Am. I am anything I choose to be.
I Know that I Know. I know every answer, every twist and turn of the past and the future.
Sit quietly. Feel. Let it come to you. When there's nothing to fight, there's nothing to fear. Realize the perfection that's already there. Take a good deep breath. I am right here with you.

WHY DO I STILL DOUBT SO MUCH?

DOUBT IS A GAME THAT YOU PLAY WITH YOURSELF

Dear Master, I've been on this realization path for many years now and I truly believe in my bones that this is it. However, there is still, in the back of my mind, a small doubt. It's kind of like an emergency exit I keep just in case this is not the right path, so I can have a quick and hopefully painless exit and go back to the beginning. What's preventing me from releasing this doubt?

Doubt. It's something that is kind of ingrained in human nature, doubt. Doubt is the thing you use to regulate and manage yourself.

It comes from the mind (...) doubting yourself is the mind sending these signals that you might make a mistake. It's coming from the survival part, the survival aspect of the brain and then it's reinforced by other people, which are really yourself.

But, what if...

Doubt is a rapist! It's a thief. It's a murderer of your energy. That's exactly what it does.

Let's stop dancing around it. It's a rapist. It rapes your energy. It takes it away; makes you doubt yourself. It's a thief. It steals from you.

It steals not only life force from your body and your mind, it steals your real identity. It's a murderer. It kills the real I Am that you are (...) and you don't have the luxury anymore to play that game.

But then what's going to keep me from going crazy and doing crazy things? What will help me keep being a member of society?

You always used doubt as a tool to self-assess, to avoid risks, and to make sure that things just didn't blow up on you. You doubted yourself when you felt even great periods of passion. You doubted, afraid of standing out from others, afraid of being different, afraid that maybe it was wrong.

You doubted yourself, and so you stayed small, really small. No more. No more.

You don't need that safety net anymore. You don't need that doublecheck on yourself. You don't need the confinement that doubt puts you in. You don't need to doublecheck on your mind or your thoughts or your actions anymore.

You're doing crazy things right now by doubting yourself, by living small, by not being happy in every moment. That's crazy.

When you doubt yourself, then you're creating boundaries. You're defining the walls. You're making your own box.

It keeps you small. It keeps you very flat and linear and local. You do not have the luxury of doubt anymore in your life. It's a bad game.

So, what do I do? It's not like I can flip a switch and suddenly stop doubting!!

You no longer have the luxury to doubt. You no longer have that luxury! That's it. It's that plain. It's that simple. You don't have the luxury to doubt yourself.

(It's) an old, old game of doubt. And doubt isn't one of those things that you fight and battle and you go in and try to find every little area of doubt within yourself. You just realize you don't have that luxury anymore.

It served you well, to a degree. Doubt made you question things, especially yourself. Doubt helped to sharpen your sword, up to a point, until you cut yourself really bad on it. Doubt gave you a mirror, but it was a very cracked mirror to look into.

You no longer have the luxury of doubting yourself. It's time to move on.

Time to stop doubting whether you're really here for Realization. Either do it or don't do it.

It's time to stop doubting whether it's your time for Realization.

You don't have that luxury anymore. It's now a matter of either letting it go and stop playing the doubt game, letting it go or getting off the path, going back, somewhere else.

Perhaps easier said than done, but you don't even have that luxury to contemplate it. Not right now, not where you are.

Ok, I get it!! But can you give me at least some actionable steps or something?

FROM LIMITATION TO LIGHT BODY

Every human is a product of their past, a fact that causes countless struggles and limitations in one's life and obstructs freedom and enlightenment. Your past not only includes the bloodline – parents, grandparents and family going all the way back to Atlantis – but also your past lives, many of which are your own biological ancestors. Even more important, your past includes deep connections with one or more of the 144,000 angelic spiritual families.

These countless layers form the foundation of your human existence, and are the very things keeping you from realizing abundance, clarity, joy, enlightenment, and ultimate freedom. However, now the purpose of these family structures has been fulfilled.

With the Order of the Arc closing, aliens and interferers being called home, the spiritual families disbanding, and humans beginning to understand consciousness and energy, it is finally time to set yourself free.

You came to Earth in order to learn about energy, consciousness and, ultimately, freedom. Yet many limitations became embedded into the ancestral lineage and became part of your physical, mental and even spiritual beingness. Ancestral energies influence your thoughts, biology, beliefs, habits, tendencies, dreams, physical and mental health, abundance, and much more. Honoring and releasing these connections opens the doorway for the integration of your own clarity, knowingness, thoughts, feelings, and light body.

This release is one of the most essential – and most difficult – steps into enlightenment. Very few humans have come to this point, and Adamus says it takes a very courageous consciousness pioneer to be one of the first, and that it holds the key for moving into true freedom and sovereignty. Not just another teaching among many, Ancestral Freedom is a life-changing choice.

NOTE: This Cloud Class was originally recorded in 2015 and subsequently updated with a new session in 2020. It is core Crimson Circle material, recommended for everyone who is allowing freedom and Realization in this lifetime.

1 – Origins (1:25:26)

Adamus explains why you might feel stuck at this point in your journey. You desire freedom, but there are invisible things holding you back, because your identity and biology was built on your ancestors, going all the way back to your spiritual family. After discussing your origins and the family dynamics in Atlantis, Adamus leads a very important DreamWalk with your ancestors.

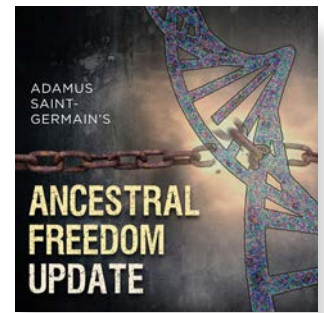

2 – Release (56:24)

The influence and impact of your ancestral bloodline is even greater than your past lives. Predispositions for nearly everything, including innate abilities, sexual imbalances, health issues, physical appearance, wealth/poverty, intelligence and much more – are passed down through the bloodline and carried into new incarnations. Because they are not yours, they can be extremely hard to change until you let go of the ancestors and release yourself from the bloodline. For those who are ready, Adamus leads a profound merabh in releasing the ancestors with honor and gratitude, and finally setting yourself free.

3 – Farewell (36:39)

In this updated segment, Adamus says that our job is done. We found the solution to the energy impasses, and now is a time of convergence – the Order of the Arc is closing, Gaia is leaving, and the aliens/interferers are being summoned home. These dynamics will have far-reaching effects on all of creation. Adamus leads an unforgettable Ancestral Freedom Merabh, addressing the fact that all beings – angel and human – are being called home for a very important reason, and that you are no longer lost.

HIGHLIGHTS

- How did you get to be the way you are?
- Who are your real ancestors, and why does it matter?
- Find out why some things are so hard to change
- Release yourself into sovereignty and freedom
- All beings are called home in this time of convergence
- Spiritual family is no longer needed because you are no longer lost

REAL?

It's been an interesting month at Crimson Circle. Most of the talk among the staff right now is about two things: Heaven's Cross, and all the new people suddenly finding their way to the website. Both items are exciting – and slightly daunting.

For many of us, our little Shaumbra world has been a wonderful heart home, a place just beyond mass consciousness where we feel welcome and understood; a place we can come to on the crazy days and know we're not alone. But what if the new people don't understand? What if they call us crazy? What if they mess everything up?

When writing this column every month, I've always felt like I'm writing to my dearest friends, not a bunch of rowdy strangers. But here's the real question: who's the one actually fretting about all this?

It sure isn't my Master self because, well, she's a Master – abounding in wisdom not shrinking with insecurity. It's not the innocent being of my "past" who boldly volunteered to go where no angel had ever gone before – the biggest adventure in the omniverse. And it certainly isn't my "future" self that's currently basking in the glow of an epically successful expedition into TimeSpace. Nope, the worrywart is my little human self, she who's learned the hard way to stay small and hide her light from those who don't understand. Except that now people WANT to understand, which means now is the time for all of us to open up, step out, and be seen.

Here's the deal: We crazy pioneers found the answer to the energy impasse (it's self-love) and sent word back to our angelic families, "Hey, we finally got it!" As the information was received and digested, it soon became clear that the home base crews (our angelic families) were no longer needed, so they sent word out to all members on Earth and beyond, "Hey fam, go look up these Shaumbra people, they struck gold!" then disbanded and went off on their own adventures. The great awakening was on, aided and abetted by a strange virus that (in my personal experience) somehow helps untangle and disconnect stuck energies. And now here we are – the humans who got the message are starting to show up. So, even if my human self isn't so sure about these developments, my Whole Self is thrilled.

Which brings me back to Heaven's Cross. Last month I shared some of the misgivings I find inherent in the whole idea. Other people have confessed their hesitation as well, and I feel it's well founded. But just because I don't have a clear idea of what it means or what will happen, doesn't mean I turn away. No, this is where the rubber meets the road, where I get to walk my talk, where sh*t becomes real. Because, as I've often said, either I believe I create my reality, or I don't. I can't have it both ways.

With that in mind, I'd like to share a couple things that I personally feel about Heaven's Cross. First, one of my favorite truths from Tobias:

"IT IS REAL IF YOU ALLOW IT TO BE."

How far am I willing to take this belief? What limits have I placed on what I really think is possible? Here's an example (which I share with a bit of trepidation): For many years I've had amazing experiences of floating in my dreams. And, for the last decade or so, I was often aware of practicing this skill specifically to bring it back into my waking state. "I just make this little shift and then it works – remember this!!" It's so simple in my dreams, but when I wake up, well, gravity. The floating dreams have gotten more frequent lately, and a couple weeks ago I cried out in excitement, "Look! I'm doing it AND I'm awake!!" Then I woke up. Damn it.

A day or two later, working on something where Adamus was talking about Heaven's Cross and how gravity is lessening, I started feeling strange. A pause, a few deep breaths, then a startled recognition – "This is how my dream body feels when I'm ready to float!" – followed by an instant crash into my incredulous mind, "You KNOW that's not possible, right?" But wait... a long time ago, the limitation of "this reality" didn't exist. Am I ready to un-choose it? Sitting there on the sofa and considering for brief moment, I did not get up and try to float. Of course, it wouldn't have worked – because I "knew" it wouldn't. But a question arises: How much am I willing to relax my beliefs about this realm? Either I create my reality, or I don't. How far am I willing to take that?

"AT THE CORE OF ALL THINGS, DUALITY CEASED TO EXIST."

I will never forget the moment in Salzburg, Austria (2010) when I heard Adamus make this profound statement. Something inside me shifted that day, like a long-distance marathoner rounding the corner to see the finish line just ahead. Duality has served us well, and now it's no longer needed. But again, how far am I willing to take it? Our physical reality is built on duality, and includes what Adamus calls the “un” of everything. With the end of duality, perhaps it means that this chair and the “un” chair in the other realms flow together; that this human me and the Me of All That Is now mingle into one; that reality becomes pliable and responsive as all its parts come back together. Am I willing to take that much responsibility for shaping my life? Am I willing to live my life based not on anything said by Adamus or Tobias or Kuthumi or the Bible or the Pope or some dead relative, but on my own sovereignty? Am I really willing to be all that?

More than anything, the end of duality is about the end of separation from my Self. Is it just a fairy story that in some reality out there somewhere, I’m a grand angelic being who had the ridiculous idea to get stuck on Earth? If I keep that as only a story, I don’t really have to take full responsibility. If I think of Heaven’s Cross as just another carrot, then whoever is dangling it has all the authority and I am still a hapless victim. But if I don’t believe in power games anymore, how long will I keep playing them?

Every time I make the choice to trust myself – sight unseen, unproven, outrageous trust – it is my human choosing to trust my Whole Self, and every time I do that, it brings the duality of me and ME a little closer together. Every time you do that, it brings your human and your divine a little closer too. And every time that happens, the realms themselves come a little closer, until eventually a critical mass is reached, a point of no return where reunion is inevitable and unavoidable.

I believe that’s what Heaven’s Cross is about, the literal reunion of dual realms, experienced on a very individual basis.

It’s sort of like two-part epoxy. You can stir either of the two parts and nothing changes. But mix them together, and suddenly a whole new substance is born, something completely different than the individual parts. I can see why Adamus said to let go of all our issues and baggage before Heaven’s Cross, because otherwise “it will really hurt.” Once epoxy has been mixed, there’s no going back. Once the realms have begun to merge, the entire substance of reality begins to change – slowly, thank goodness – but what are we going to do with that? I think the “hurt” Adamus mentioned probably has to do with how I create my life.

If I blame carrots and promises and distractions for my unsatisfactory existence, my soon-to-be amplified creator abilities are going to make it even more unsatisfactory and frustrating. But if I throw limitations to the wind and let myself believe that anything is possible, maybe it’s actually true. And if thousands of conscious humans choose their dreams fulfilled, how could it not be so – and change the world in the process?

What feels most important to me right now is being as clear as possible with everything and everyone, most especially with myself, because when my life is up to me, the only impossibilities are the ones I decide to believe.

Who has the authority in my life, if not me?

Who says it's real or not, other than my own Self?

"I can tell you one thing, that whichever reality you choose, it is real."
